Are You Ready for Coaching?

- I am willing to make an effort to stop shortchanging myself, to stop setting limits on what I can do. I am willing to consider options that I once thought were not available to me.
- I am willing to make a sacrifice of resources if needed, including those that affect my lifestyle, in order to achieve the peace and satisfaction I deserve in my life.
- I am willing to consider that becoming fulfilled in my own life can work for the higher good of all. In achieving my own happiness, I am willing to consider the higher good.
- I am willing to take a new look at my life, and be open to perceptions and intuitions that can guide me to the next level in my personal life or career.
- I believe that with the wise, gentle and experienced support of someone I trust, I could achieve the goals I have set. I could use a coach to partner with me.
